

VACATION AT HOME

Change around your habits of living. Put a tent in the back yard and imagine you are camping out. Get up an hour or two earlier in the morning and take a hike through the park into the country. If you have Wednesday or Saturday afternoons off, arrange to go for over. Supply to some hospitable farm house or village inn and take a complete rest for 24 hours. It would be a good luck to go gipsying if you can get the use of a horse and wagon. Anything for vacation from the deadening routine and from being close to old mother earth for the freshening of spirit that comes and from throwing dull care aside.

Horse Races and Many Other Attractions at the Wetaskiwin Fair. Entries Now Coming In. Exhibition Will Be Best In Annals of Society.

That the exhibition here this year on August 26th and 27th will be the best in the annals of the Wetaskiwin Agricultural Society is now a foregone conclusion. The arrangements are now well in hand and everything will be in readiness in good time. The entries for all classes are now pouring in almost daily to the secretary Chas. D. Egan, and the enquiries and requests for prize lists is receiving indicate that the outside public are almost as much interested in the fair as those of the Wetaskiwin district. In regard to amusements, Burs Devil Races, who broke the Canadian record for altitude at the Dominion fair in Brandon last week has been engaged to make flights during the fair, and this in itself would warrant every citizen in Central Alberta coming to see this, the greatest of all attractions. An excellent program of horse races has been prepared, and with the purses being offered, the fastest horses in the west should be here. The track will be put in good shape, and an excellent time is assured all who enjoy this kind of sport. Music will be furnished by two bands, while the Edmonton Dancers and Pipers will give a continuous program each afternoon. The directors are doing all in their power to make the fair a success, but it requires the co-operation of all to make it the best. Now is the time to prepare for the exhibits. It is each individual's duty to his or her share the result would be that the Wetaskiwin fair would be one of the best in Western Canada. The support of exhibitors cannot be properly considered as a matter of charity, to the institution, but rather a good proposition. The greater the success of the exhibition, the more you make out of it. Wetaskiwin this year expects every man to do his duty.

A. Stewart Watt Entirely Exonerated

Justices of the Peace Severely Censured. Persecution Not Prosecution Is What His Honor Says Took Place; Accused An "Ornament To Bar." Watt Now Taking Steps To Punish All Parties Concerned.

The case of The King vs. Arthur Stewart Watt came up for hearing at a sitting of the District Judge's Criminal Court held at Wetaskiwin on Tuesday last. W. H. Odell appeared on behalf of the Crown, while Mr. Watt appeared in person. Neither Alexander Knox, Les Jordan, nor any one representing the parties who had the information, or the Justices, were present or represented in Court.

Mr. Odell stated that he had attended the preliminary hearing under instructions from the attorney general's department, and as there had been absolutely no evidence on which to commit, he thought it was his duty to point this out to the Justices of the Peace, and notwithstanding this the case was remanded.

He then rested the case fully, referring to all the points as adduced at the preliminary hearing. But as the case was fully reported in last issue of The Times, we will not again refer to the details, but will only mention that Mr. Watt was accused before the Justices of fraudulently obtaining money from the Wetaskiwin Undertaking Company Limited and converting it to his own use.

Mr. Watt took advantage of the opportunity of addressing the court stating: "I think I may safely say to your Honor that there was no intention of appropriating the money. I would greatly have preferred to have this matter go to trial and have the evidence again threshed out before your Honor, but there are certain circumstances, which make it desirable to have the matter disposed of at once, and as your Honor was not able to take the trial to-day and as it would mean considerable delay, I would like to have the matter disposed of at hand."

His Honor, Judge Taylor, then gave the following judgment, which we publish verbatim: "Fortunately such cases as these in our Criminal Court are very rare, that is, our criminal courts are for the purpose of prosecution and not for persecution. I have no doubt whatever but that this is a case of persecution, rather than prosecution. It is a surprise to me, so I will not say it is a surprise to me, that the Justices of the Peace on the evidence that was submitted and also in the face of the advice of the Department of the Attorney General of the Province, should send an accused person up for trial on such evidence as was submitted to them. I say I am not particularly surprised in a way and yet I am. Many Justices of the Peace, there are many of them in the Province, who conscientiously do their duty and do their work. I do not think the Justices of the Peace in this case did their duty, that is, they allowed themselves to be prejudiced or influenced by influences that they should not have permitted to influence them. They allowed themselves to be misled by the evidence to be, will I say the tool, hardly, perhaps that is too strong a word but something similar to that they allowed themselves to play into the hands of one, of someone, who was anxious to persecute another and they allowed themselves to be the tool of such a person.

I am pleased, indeed, that there is absolutely no evidence, that there is no intention of appropriating the money. I am glad to see that there is an Officer of this Court. It gives me great pleasure indeed to discharge you in this matter. I trust you will long continue to remain an ornament to the bar as you have been and anyone that I can say which would help restore that trust which the public had in you I will be pleased to say. There is no doubt, absolutely no doubt in my mind that you are absolutely innocent of any attempt or any thought to commit the crime with which you have been charged.

Wetaskiwin, Alta., Jul. 21st, 1913. We understand that Mr. Watt is now taking steps for the suitable punishment of all parties concerned in the prosecution against him.

HYMEN'S ALTAR

Three Very Pretty Weddings Take Place This Week.

BERRY-NIEMAN
A very pretty and popular wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. H. Henderson, Leora street, at two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Ella Nieman was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Berry. Rev. W. L. Bradley, B.A., performed the ceremony. The affair was very quiet, the bride and groom being unaccompanied, and only the immediate relatives of the contracting pair being in attendance. The happy young couple left on the afternoon train for Calgary and Banff on a brief honeymoon trip. We join the host of friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Berry a long, happy and prosperous journey through life.

HRACOCK-NELSON
Another very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Wells, Lorne street, on Tuesday evening with Miss Rebecca Mae Nelson and Mr. Kenneth Ernest Hracock, both of Pigeon Lake, as the contracting parties. The auspicious knot was tied by Rev. W. L. Bradley, B.A., in the presence of only a few of the intimate friends. Mrs. Welch, of Lethbridge, attended the bride, while Mr. Joyce C. Thomas of Wetaskiwin supported the groom. The happy couple left on the evening train for Edmonton on a short trip. Both the contracting parties are well known in the city, and their hosts of friends join in extending the heartiest congratulations.

GRAHN-YOPAT
Two of Wetaskiwin's popular young people slipped away to Edmonton on Monday last, and on Tuesday were quietly married by Rev. Mr. Scholtz. We refer to Miss Frances Josephine Yopat, daughter of Mrs. J. Yopat, and Mr. Sanford A. Grahn, of the Wetaskiwin City. The bride and groom were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Yopat. After the ceremony a sumptuous supper was partaken of. The happy couple returned to the city on Wednesday evening, and are now receiving the congratulations of their many friends. They will be at home after September 1st.

Town Topics
The new post office boxes were brought into commission on Monday morning last, and Wetaskiwin now boasts of one of the most up-to-date post offices in the Dominion.

Robt. Ward returned a few days ago from Banff, where he was taking treatment for rheumatism, feeling much improved in health. His friends hope for a speedy and permanent recovery.

O. H. Johnson and daughters were in the city during the past week renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Johnson reports that business at Edmonton is very good notwithstanding the financial stringency.

The Garbutt Business College will reopen on August 11th with A. R. MacKenzie as principal. Mr. MacKenzie says the prospects for the school are excellent, and that there will be a large attendance this fall.

Miss Fleta Chandler returned home on Saturday evening after spending a fortnight in Calgary.

Pigeon Lake Camp Notes

Wetaskiwinites Who Are Rusticating There Have the Times Of Their Lives.

Messrs Woodcock, O'Loughlin, Serimour, Williams, Murphy, McKean, Ker, Paine and Hazard of Strathcona spent the week end as guests of the Campground Camp.

Mrs. West, Miss Beattie and Messrs. West, Maguire and Campbell motored out last Sunday and spent the day at the Lake.

A large banner is placed on the bench illustrating the fact that "Robin Hood" is different and the nearest tent to it has the sign of the "Small and Cross Bunch" very prominently displayed.

A very informal taffy party was given last Monday afternoon at the "Campground Camp" with Mrs. Mary Horseblatting acting as hostess. The invitations were very tastefully written on birch bark and delivered by special messenger to the "Mustava River" "Campground" and "Small and Cross Bunch" tents. The guests were specially requested to have their hands spotlessly clean with no mention whatever of their faces. The visitors began to arrive about 4 o'clock and were entertained in a very delightful manner by the hostess. During this time the taffy was poured on the sand to cool after which it was tastefully served to the guests. The only misfortune of the afternoon was when five of the "Campground Camp" guests were unexpectedly dished to the ground by the braving of the camp cot on which they were sitting. The prize was awarded to Miss Bailey for having the cleanest taffy in the bunch.

At noon each day the campers array themselves in their bathing costumes to enjoy a very pleasant swim in the placid waters of Pigeon Lake. The campers are still wondering how the bank boys enjoyed their trip

GAS IN ABUNDANCE

Power House Supplied and Surplus is Piped To Railway Street For Demonstration.

Last week the gas from the well pipe could not be procured for this, and four jets were attached just in time to save the power plant. These jets will make a great difference to the city's finances. It is found that there is abundance of gas for the power house, in fact, there appears enough to run two or three power houses such as Wetaskiwin. On Saturday last, Aid. Gotthard with a number of willing assistants, piped the surplus gas from the well to Railway street, using a one-inch for the purpose. It was intended to conduct the gas to near the depot, but such

Skeleton Found Near Buck Lake

Police and Coroner Go To Investigate.

Word was brought to the city on Monday that a skeleton had been found a few miles south of Buck Lake by John Beck, a settler in that district, and it was supposed the bones were those of a young man who was lost about three years ago. Sgt. Michel and Dr. R.D. Robertson, coroner, left on Wednesday morning for the scene, and as the trip will be over two hundred miles, they will be absent several days. The remains are supposed to be those of John Furlough, who left the camp where he and his brother were located, and followed the tracks of a deer. Although this was two years ago last December, and also notwithstanding the fact that a diligent search has been kept up by relatives of the young man, nothing was heard of his whereabouts until this discovery. After the young man left the camp, a storm arose, and it is thought he became lost and expired through exposure and exhaustion. A large amount of paper on which was written the word Jack, also a rifle, shells and a knife.

A LOVELY BABY BOY

This Mother is quite Enthusiastic over a well Known Food.

Mrs. J. W. Pateman, 34 Harriet St., Toronto, in writing about Neave's Food says: "When I first knew one of my friends, her baby Jack was eight months old and dying by inches. She had tried all kinds of food because Jack could not digest milk. At last, I fetched her a tin of Neave's Food. At the end of a week, Jack was rapidly gaining flesh and was bright and happy. He is a lovely boy now and she declares Neave's Food saved his life. And it did."

Then I recommended it to a friend on Victoria Avenue. She had a baby 6 months old that was not thriving a bit. She put the baby on Neave's Food and at the end of three months, the baby was twice the size.

I have never seen two bigger, stronger boys than mine for their ages and we owe it all to Neave's Food. I have the utmost faith in Neave's Food."

Mothers and prospective mothers may obtain a free tin of Neave's Food and a valuable book "How to Feed Your Baby" by writing Edwin Wiley, 14 Front Street East, Toronto, who is the Canadian agent. Mention this paper. For sale by all druggists. 24A

ALFALFA FIREGUARDS.

Much of the loss to crops, buildings and other improvements, caused by railway fires in cultivated sections of the Prairie Provinces could be avoided if farmers would raise and use combustible crop on a strip of land adjacent to railway rights of way. Alfalfa, it is suggested, in this connection since it is not so much burned as other crops. A narrow strip would form a thoroughly efficient fireguard. Where clover can be grown successfully it will answer equally well. The growing of potatoes, beets, or other root crops will serve the same purpose, where local market conditions will permit. This would also be a step in the much-to-be-desired direction of diversified farming.—O.L.

MONEY IN COWS AND HENS

Money which is sent out of the province in exchange for products that are produced locally just this much money that much scarcer in Alberta. $250,000 was paid out by Albertans last year for eggs and $48,000 for the country in order to bring in enough butter to supply the demand. If this million dozen of eggs and the fourteen carloads of butter could have been produced locally just this much money would not need to be borrowed from outside capitalists for the resident producers would have that much cash to spare.

There is a sign of a change for it has been predicted that the production of butter in Alberta will be twice that of last year. The government of Alberta is doing what it can to encourage an increase and development of the poultry industry and to secure a larger production of a better quality of eggs and poultry so as to secure a better price.

The demand for dairy and poultry products is forging ahead and the producers will have to hustle to catch up.

WORST TRAGEDY IN ANNALS OF ALBERTA

Rumney, Alta. July 28.—A tragedy unequalled in the criminal annals of Alberta was discovered here shortly before noon yesterday, when George Robinson, a prosperous farmer of the Rumney district, was found lying on the floor of the sitting room of his own home, his clothing saturated with blood and the top of his head blown completely off.

Across his body on the floor was the shotgun with which the shooting was done, and opposite him on the floor was the body of his wife, a big bolt in her right breast, with a charge of heavy buckshot had entered, and her face bruised and beaten, all beyond recognition.

In the kitchen of the home the 12-year-old son of the couple was found, his neck almost torn in two where he had been struck by a charge from the gun, while on the bed in the rear bedroom was the body of their three-year-old daughter, her head blown completely off.

Three empty shells were found on the floor of the house and a fourth in the gun, while furniture was overturned, blood scattered in all directions, and evidence of a fierce fight found in every room.

The tragedy evidently took place early Thursday morning, as Mrs. Robinson was preparing breakfast, three plates being on the table and the baby being still in bed. Coroner Gibson acted on a report on the bodies and was afterwards conveyed to Muncion for internment. Robinson was formerly a railroad clerk, but took up half a section of land near Robinson, who was ultimately married and to whom the two-year-old child belonged. After the marriage it is reported, quarrels between the couple, as to the possession, were frequent.

NEWSPAPER LAW

1.—The postmaster is required to give notice by letter, returning the paper does not answer this law, when an subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reason for its not being taken. A neglect to do this makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.
2.—If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3.—Any person who takes a paper out of the postoffice, whether directed to his name or not, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
4.—If a subscriber orders his paper stopped and the publisher continues sending it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it from the postoffice. This proceeds upon the grounds that a man must pay for what he uses.
5.—The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the postoffice, or removing them, is not a crime, but is a prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

THE CLUBWOMAN'S HUSBAND

He Learns Her Opinion of the Privilege of Men's Social Organization.

Mrs. DABBS looked up with the manner of one in deep thought. "If the sea is two miles deep where the Titanic went down I don't suppose she will ever go to the bottom," she said.

Mrs. Dabbs regarded him over her egg cup with mingled scorn and amusement.

"Why not?" she asked.

"Because of the density of the water at that depth."

"Then your theory is that she would go down, say, a mile and a half and float around on that level until she broke up?"

He admitted it. He had read it somewhere. "You read it somewhere?"

"Yes."

Mrs. Dabbs curled her lip with the scorn of wisdom for ignorance.

"Great Scott!" she exclaimed. "Why don't the men have clubs that are as weighty as the Titanic?"

No, you know that the sea has been sounded in the south Atlantic to a depth of eight and three-quarter miles. Don't you know that the Challenger took marine life out of the sea at a depth of four and one-half miles? No, you don't know that. You don't know that."

Nero sounded the sea at a depth of 31,014 feet and that many other ships have taken soundings and brought up soil at depths greater than that at which the Titanic lies. Do you think those soundings were made with a weight heavier than the Titanic? No. You don't think so because you can't think. No man can think. His clubs teach him nothing but to drink liquor every time that he has read in the paper, or got them for you, cheaper than you can. Do not go to your dealer when you want credit, and buy from the mail order house when you have cash. Honey is light, keep it in town and let it float around amongst us. Keep the money earned in Wetaskiwin in Wetaskiwin.

Mr. Dabbs simply shook out of the house on his way to the office. Poor Mr. Dabbs!—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Interested in the Boats.

The other day Philip owed a pair of boots. He tried to resist him out of it, but the youngster persisted in his demand. Philip said to him a little story—one that he had read in the newspaper. The boy was all attention, and the story proceeded.

A little boy in Baltimore had been given a pair of rubber boots by his father. He washed in the water with them—water ran over the tops of the boots—boy took cold—mother put his feet in wet water—grew worse—doctor came—little boy died—understander—funeral."

The little boy listened attentively to the end of the story, and the father was congratulating himself on the impression he had made when, with a long breath, Philip asked:

"What did they do with the boots?"

"National Magazine."

More Noise Than Work.

"Sometimes," said Uncle Eben, "you see a reform shout their life a law mover out of repair."

It is like a racket that walks up de neighborhood, but it don't cut no grass."—Washington Star.

The Cruelty of Realism.

John G. Johnson, the lawyer and art expert, was talking at a dinner in Philadelphia about some of Sargent's cruel realistic portraits.

"Sargent once painted a 'Philadelphian woman,' Johnson said, 'and the work was finished the woman's condition called for it.'"

"As the coachman was studying the portrait, Sargent said to him: 'How do you like it?'"

"The man answered thoughtfully: 'Well, sir, he might have made it a little better looking, but not if it is half as real as this.'"

CONVICTED AFTER LEGAL BATTLE WATCHED IN TWO HEMISPHERES

New York, July 26.—It cost about $30,000 and stirred up governments on both sides of the Atlantic, but they got "Australian Mac" safely behind the prison bars for a nine-year sentence.

His 437,000 MacNamara is Mac's right name, and he is a criminal who is called the most extraordinary safe trower and bank robber in crime annals.

His conviction in Vancouver Thursday followed a struggle to extradite him from the Tombs in New York that took 15 months. Backed by United States Senator O'Gorman's law to the United States supreme court.

"What am I wanted for?" growled MacNamara when detectives first tapped him on the shoulder on Amsterdam avenue, New York.

"The $37,000 robbery of the Bank of Montreal at New Westminster," was the reply.

"Oh! Is that all?" sneered the captive. "I thought you wanted me for something serious."

NORTHERN RIGHT OF WAY

Edmonton, July 24.—A battle for 18 miles of right-of-way is being waged between the Canadian Northern and the C.P.R. at the Edmonton Supreme court before Justice Beck, where the former company is seeking an injunction to prevent the C.P.R. constructing their line across certain quarter sections southeast of Camrose, in the valley of the Battle river.

Edmonton, July 28.—Owing to the financial straits of the city council, the city is being forced to sell its property, and discharged 300 men.

From every section of the district come reports that the wild ducks and prairie chickens are very plentiful this year. This may be accounted for in the fact that there has been plenty of rain and fewer prairie fires than usual.

Battle Camp, Eng., July 26.—Private W. A. Hawkins, of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, wins King's prize worth $1,250, with N.R.A. gold medal and badge.

Hawkins made an aggregate of 330 out of a possible 355.

A notice has been sent out from the office of the deputy postmaster general at Ottawa warning postmasters throughout the Dominion against allowing notices other than postage notices from being exhibited in the lobby of their office. The notice states that the department is aware that pressure is often brought to bear upon a postmaster to exhibit notices of meetings for charitable and religious purposes.

AN ARCTIC ADVENTURE

Nansen's Daring and Perilous Swim For His Drifting Boat.

Among the perilous adventures of the Nansen arctic expedition was the narrow escape of Nansen and Johansen on their return trip to the Fram after their unsuccessful dash for the pole. After many months of hardship a narrow channel opened in the ice, and they launched the two light kilaiks that had been carried on their sledges for more than a year. A few days afterward disaster nearly put an end to the expedition. The incident is related in "The Siege and Conquest of the North Pole" by Mr. George Bryce.

In the evening their legs felt stiff with sitting in the kilaiks all day, and they landed on the edge of the ice so that they might stretch them a little. After the kilaiks, which were lashed together, had been moored by means of one of the braces they ascended a hummock close by and had been standing over and swam on his back. At length he gained a little and redoubled his exertions.

By this time Nansen felt his limbs stiffening and losing all feeling. His strokes became more and more feeble, but the distance from the kilaiks to the shore was not less than two miles. He tried to pull himself up, but his body was so stiff with cold that he could not do so. At length a little he managed to swing one leg up to the edge of the sledge that was lashed to the deck and then raised the rest of his body. They were saved.

With some difficulty he paddled the kilaiks back to Johansen, who admitted that these were the worst moments he had ever lived through. Johansen now pulled off Nansen's wet clothes, put on the few dry ones they had in reserve, spread the sleeping bag upon the ice and covered Nansen with the seal and everything he could find to keep out the cold. The next day Nansen was right again, and the two men proceeded forward once more on the march that finally brought them out of the arctic.

WORMS IN HOGS.

Preventive and Remedial Treatment of Intestinal Parasites.

Worms are found in pastures and around buildings in greater or less quantities in the embryonic stage, and these are likely to be set on by the pigs and particularly so when the pigs are fed upon the ground. This is one reason why pigs should be fed upon a cement feeding floor that can be hauled off and kept clean or else upon nice green food. Also, A. Gammals of Milwaukee, Wis., a college.

Slow gains, lack of thrift, tendency toward coughing, tendency to be drawn up in the body, lack of appetite, harsh appearance of the hair are all good indications of worms.

As a preliminary to nearly all treatments, pigs are usually kept off feed from the night before until about 10 o'clock the following day, when they are quite hungry. Then the feed, in which is blended the remedy adopted to remove the worms, is fed. A thin soup of shorts and water or milk is the most desirable medium in which to give the medicine. No definite experiments have been carried out to test the relative efficiency of the different remedies, but the following are some commonly used:

Turpentine treatment.—For every thirty pounds of pig give one teaspoonful of turpentine in the soup. Repeat this for three or four successive days. Follow this with a dose of epsom salts, about one teaspoonful for every fifty pounds of pig. Salts can be fed in the same manner as the turpentine. Too extensive feeding of turpentine or too heavy doses may result in inflammation of the intestines. Be careful therefore. Turpentine ordinarily, however, is very effective.

Santonin Treatment.—Santonin is a white powder and is also easily given with the feed. One ounce is usually sufficient for about 100 fifty pound pigs. This powder should be dissolved in water, mixed with the soup in the same way as the turpentine and followed by a physic in the same way.

Concentrated Iye.—Another very common remedy is one teaspoonful of lye dissolved in water. This is enough for three pigs weighing fifty pounds each. Pains should be taken to dissolve the lye very carefully and to mix it very uniformly with the feed. This should be fed for a couple of days in succession, and if fed every other week for a couple of weeks will give results.

In all cases where pigs are being treated for worms it is best to confine them to a small lot well littered with straw, so that all excrement of the pigs, which may contain eggs of the worms, will fall upon the straw, which may then be mired up and burned.

Preventive Treatment.—This consists of providing a trough made up in several compartments and placing in them the following ingredients, forming a composite tonic: Bone meal, two bushels; charcoal, three bushels; wood ashes, one bushel; salt, eight pounds; alkali lime, two quarts; quercus, one and a half pounds dissolved in warm water and mixed with the other ingredients. This should be kept out of the weather, but the pigs should be free access to it.

After the kilaiks, which were lashed together, had been moored by means of one of the braces they ascended a hummock close by and had been standing over and swam on his back. At length he gained a little and redoubled his exertions.

By this time Nansen felt his limbs stiffening and losing all feeling. His strokes became more and more feeble, but the distance from the kilaiks to the shore was not less than two miles. He tried to pull himself up, but his body was so stiff with cold that he could not do so. At length a little he managed to swing one leg up to the edge of the sledge that was lashed to the deck and then raised the rest of his body. They were saved.

With some difficulty he paddled the kilaiks back to Johansen, who admitted that these were the worst moments he had ever lived through. Johansen now pulled off Nansen's wet clothes, put on the few dry ones they had in reserve, spread the sleeping bag upon the ice and covered Nansen with the seal and everything he could find to keep out the cold. The next day Nansen was right again, and the two men proceeded forward once more on the march that finally brought them out of the arctic.

A Chilly Forecast.

The earth is growing in bulk on account of the meteoric dust that falls on it. It has recently been estimated that 100 tons fall daily over the surface of the globe, and that millions of years hence this will have increased the thickness of the earth considerably. This would have a tendency to bring us closer to the sun. But centrifugal force is suggested as the cause of the greater proportion and counteracts this tendency; consequently the earth would be swept away from the sun, with the result that its distance from the sun would be considerably augmented. This is spoken of as having possibly happened to some of the larger outer planets, notably Jupiter, in the remote past.—Harper's.

Milk and Ministers.

Milk became a very important part of the food of families in the colonial days of the eighteenth century. In 1728 a discussion took place in the House of Commons as to the expense of keeping a family of "milk-bred figures." These writers all named only bread and milk for breakfast and supper. As cows have been used to produce milk, of course, became more frequent use. Rev. Mr. Higginson in 1820 wrote that milk cost in London but a penny a quart, whereas the minister, John Cotton, said that milk and ministers were the only other things cheap in New England.—American Cultivator.

Knew the Symptoms.

"Doctor, my husband is losing his mind, I fear. He continually mutters and gatters to himself."

"Is it possible?"

"Yes, he mutters to himself, and when you speak to him he stares at you blankly."

"I know what the trouble is," said the doctor, smiling. "He is memorizing some hedge wren's lullaby."—The same lodge.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Unnecessary Instructions.

"Now, Tommy," said his mother, giving her final instructions before he left for the party, "remember, if you're asked to have something you want you must say, 'Yes, thank you,' and if you don't want it—"

"Tommy raised his hand. "That's all right, ma," he said, "you needn't bother about that part of it."

Evolution of the Mortgage.

"Farming methods have changed, haven't they?"

"Yes," replied Farmer Coratossel. "Now a man thinks he's unlucky if he has to borrow money on his place. He used to think he was lucky if he was able to."—Washington Star.

When Summer Stops the Swing

Most of us can remember the school lesson in the law of accumulated motion—momentum.

If you exert a pound of pressure against a man in a swing, you'll start him moving slowly "to and fro." If you continue to exert a pound of pressure against him every time the swing makes a trip, you'll soon have him going so high that he almost turns the whole circle. If you stop pushing, the momentum will die out and the swing come to rest at "dead centre."

Winning trade follows the same natural laws.

Advertisements are the force behind the swing of public favor. Each new advertisement increases the momentum. Finally, the accumulated force of these numerous impulses swing indifference to the buying point.

If you stop Advertising, you'll lose momentum.

The moral of which is: Don't stop the business swing in Summer. Keep adding the pounds of Advertising pressure.

Mr. Wm. K. GREEN, St. John, N. B. writes: "As I have had the pleasure of testing Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY, I might say it is the only remedy I would recommend. Last summer, I had a very severe attack of Diarrhoea and Vomiting. My doctor tested me with many remedies, and finally advised me to try the above remedy. After a few doses I was completely cured, and ever since I have never been without it. I have also used it for my children, and find the same result. I have recommended it to several of my friends, and also to the friends of the Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY is the greatest remedy for earth for all summer complaints. Mr. and Mrs. Amos Doupe returned on Friday last from visiting relatives in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. They also attended the Dominion Fair at Brandon. Mr. Doupe says the conditions in the Wetaskiwin district are better than any he has seen on the trip, and he is more convinced than ever that we have the golden spot of the west. Naturally he saw Dore Devil Blahely and his aeroplane, and says this is one of the sights of a life-time, to see this man gliding through the air like a bird, and he is well satisfied that the Wetaskiwin Agricultural Society made no mistake when they engaged him to make flights here. If they take Mr. Doupe's advice everybody in the country will be here to see Blahely and his ship on Aug. 26 and 27.

L. I. D. COUNCIL MEETING

A regular meeting of the council of L.I.D. No. 455, was held in Wetaskiwin on the 5th inst., with all the members present.

After the reading and adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting, Mr. Neville addressed the council asking for a road to be surveyed across the N.E. corner of N.B. 14-25 W. The secretary-treasurer was instructed to write to the department regarding the matter.

The financial standing of each division was then read and the bills and pay sheets were considered. The pay sheets are as follows:

Pay sheet No. 2, div. 4.....	$121.70
Pay sheet No. 3, div. 4.....	36.00
Pay sheet No. 4, div. 4.....	69.10
Pay sheet No. 1, div. 4.....	69.45
Pay sheet No. 1, div. 6.....	151.60
Pay sheet No. 2, div. 6.....	93.65
Pay sheet No. 3, div. 6.....	129.50

After some discussion regarding ways and means of providing for the above amounts, it was moved by Ramsay-Greiner that whereas it is necessary to borrow the sum of $1,000.00 to meet the expenditure of L.I.D. No. 455 until such time as the taxes levied therein can be collected, therefore the board of councillors of the district enact as follows: That the chairman and treasurer of this board are hereby authorized to borrow for the purposes aforesaid the sum of $1,000.00 to be repaid by the
